

AORAI for sale

AORAI is a Wharram-Catamaran (Tangaroa MK IV), built 1990 in Austria. The Tangaroa is a strong and seaworthy design. She was excellently built with the best materials (Mahogany and marine plywood), the hulls are covered with glass and epoxy.

Main feature of AORAI, compared to a standard Tangaroa, is the junk rig. It is easy to maintain, easy to repair, easy to handle and best for downwind sailing! (Say "Hello" to the Trades!)

And who says "To sail to windward with a junk rig is not possible." is not right, we proved that with sailing from Brazil to the Cabo Verde, a trip over 3000 Miles against wind and current.

Another advantage are the unstayed masts – no trouble and worry anymore about the stays and less noise if the wind picks up.

The deckpot, adopted from the TIKI38, offers a lot of shelter under the bimini when sailing and another possible spacious double bunk when at anchor.

After sailing AORAI from Germany to South America (Brazil and Argentina) we now know that we also want to sail to higher latitudes and into the ice. AORAI is the perfect boat for the warm climate but not for Antarctica. This is the reason, why we want to sell her and change her to a strong steel boat.

When you want to sail and liveaboard in the Tropics, make a Circumnavigation on the barefeet route – for all this AORAI is the boat for you.

You will have plenty of deckspace to live outside – what you will learn to love in the Tropics, and also your friends and guest on board at every anchorage.
